Purpose and Services

Lower Columbia Tech Club Society (LCTC) is a non-profit organization that offers adults, youth, and children the opportunity to explore science and technology concepts through experimentation, collaboration, and play. Our goal is to provide a fun, informal learning environment where parents and their children, friends, professionals, and hobbyists can work together and learn from each other. LCTC meets weekly to share ideas, build projects, and learn new tech skills.

LCTC provides its members with basic instruction and use of a variety of technology toys and equipment. LCTC also hosts presentations by local technology experts and industry leaders.

Membership Terms and Fees

Tech Club Meetings run on Wednesday nights from 6-8 pm from September until the following June (supervision and member attendance permitting).

The following term (September-June) membership fees are due immediately upon application for membership:

$50 for a Family Membership (up to two parents/guardians and their children)

$30 for an Individual Membership (all ages)

Please note that we no longer have drop-in rates. But feel free to bring a friend to experience Tech Club – the first meeting is free!

12 and Under Supervision Policy

All children ages 12 and under MUST be supervised by a parent or guardian (ages 18+) for the entire duration of Tech Club meetings. If a child aged 12 or under attends a meeting without a parent or guardian, we will immediately call the child's parent/guardian to come pick up the child.

This policy is in place to ensure the safety of our junior members and to encourage parents/guardians to engage with their children in technology lessons and experimentation.

Technology Use Policy

LCTC and our landlord, MIDAS, provide members with access to technology resources and services, including equipment, toys, hardware, software, and Internet and network connections. This access is given as a privilege to users who agree to act in a lawful, responsible, and respectful manner.
